HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 3RD. 1888.

THE news we published a few weeks ago of resign his office of Chief Justice of this colony has been confirmed, the resignation especially in view of the fact that the resignation is caused by continued ill-health. re-engraved in a superior style and brought up The learned Chief Justice's leave expires in October, and his retirement will date from then. He was offered an extension of leave without salary—baving had all the half-pay of the service-but he decided to retire on bis pension. No official intimation has been received in reference to the matter, the information being conveyed by private letter. Should a marked improvement in the bon. gentleman's health take place before the expiry of his leave, and he should change his mind as to coming out again, he would be allowed to withdraw his resignation; but we regret to say there is no hope of this A description of Chinese Festivals, Fasts, &c., taking place, the doctors having declared that it will be absolutely impossible for him to leave in October. Had it been known when Sir George Phillippo left that be would not return to the colony, he would have received one of the heartiest and most sympathetic farewells that has ever been accorded an official in the whole history of Hongkong. The respect in which he was held was universal; if it was greater amongs one section of the community than another i was amongst the legal profession, who had closer opportunities than the general community of ampraising at its true value his great ability is a lawyer, but no one, whethe lawyer or not, who ever saw the learned Chief Justice, in the Supreme Court or the Legisl tive Council, could fail to struck by the many excellencies he possessed for his high position. In his case sound judgment was not marred by hasty temper bis courtesy was unfailing, and he was probably as free from prejudice as it was possibl for a man to be. To a remarkably clear mind, capable of grasping every phase of subject, he united great nower of work, and be had not been long at the head of th Judicial Department before he effected man large and much needed reforms in the Supreme Court. By Sir Gronge PHILLIPPO's plying the match. resignation the colony loses one of the ablest officials it ever possessed, and in social circles the recollection of Sir GRORGE and Lady successor? If the colony had the privilege fo deciding this point for itself the choice would undoubtedly fall on Mr. Justice Rus-SELL, who is in every way qualified for the post. Mr. Russell, in addition to his great and universally recognised abilities as a lawyer, has the additional advantage of a long and intimate acquaintance with the colony. In every office behasfilled he has won the unqualified esteem of the community, whether in his younger | police, acting I have no doubt by instrucdays when acting as Magistrate and Coroner. or in the more important offices of Puisne Judgo and Acting Chief-Justice. RUSSELL'S valuable services in connection with the blockade and opium questions are also deserving of some more substantial recognition than they have yet received and might very fairly be taken into consideration | mits, having discovered, we believe, that he when there is promotion available. at the last meeting of the Legislative Council. It seems to meet the requirements of the case fairly well, and is certainly a great [24] improvement on the Bill brought in and withdrawn some months ago. In the earlier measure it was proposed that the inquiry should Communications on Editorial matters should be take place only at the request of a private to make an investigation is all cases of fire and and address with communications addressed to the report to the Magistrate, who, if there seems Editor, not for publication, but as evidence of good any ground for it, will proceed to hold the formal inquiry. This obviously is a great improvement, for the responsibility thrown on a private person instigating such an inquiry would be little short of that attending a prosecution for arson. The proceedings before the Magistrates are to be similar to those in preliminary inquiries in cases of inferred that the inquiry will be held with the same publicity as ordinary Police Court cases, unless the Magistrate shall think it necessary in any particular case to direct otherwise. This is important, because in the contrary event the benefit of the investigation would be lost, except in the rare cases in which a criminal prosecution may result. The Magistrate is required simply to satisfy himself as to whether the fire has been the the intention of Sir GEORGE PHILLIPPO to result of a crime. If he finds there has been no crime, the matter ends, and although most important information may having been sent in a day or two before the obtained as to the cause of fires. departure of the last mail. The news has or the reason of their spread, he is not been received with general regret, more required to make any report. Here, it seems to us, the scope of the Ordinance might be widened a little, and the Magistrate be required to place on record a finding on various other points besides the simple question of arson or no arson. Take, for instance, the last fire. The flames broke out on leave to which he was entitled by the rules the south side of the street, and were communicated to the north by a couple of wooden sunshades in front of two shops on that side. These combustible affairs projected seross the side walk, and in the event of a fire-breaking out on the other side were bound to become ignited. Here, surely, is a point to which prise, which now depends upon Chinamen for the Magist cate's attention, presuming the Ordinance were already in operation, might usefully be directed. The erection of wooden profits in the Straits Settlements. From insunshades is illegal, but their existence would hardly disclose a crime within the meaning of the Ordinance, besides which they were not the cause of the outbreak of the fire, but only of its extension. None the less, an inquiry as to the circumstances under which they were erected and as to the officer by whose default they were allowed to remain in existence could not fail to be of great public benefit. The fire having caught the sunshades, it was on that side of the street that the bulk of the damage was done, property of a value of probably not less than $80,000 being sacrificed. It is quite safe to say that had it not been for these wooden structures the fire would never have crossed the street. In a case like this it seems to us it ought to be possible to bring the responsibility home to some officer or department. The Governor, we note, has never otherwise interfered with.—Straits Times. still doubts as to the utility of the Fire Inquiries Bill, but we think His Excellency may find various other directions in which the Bill may be made useful besides that of putting down the crime of arson, though I that is of course the chief. In this, its principal object, we think the Bill will not fail. Probably but few convictions will result, but when it comes to be known that there i closer scruting into the cause of fires the in-

His journey, which covered ground never yet traversed by a European, appears to have been full of difficulties and dangers. After a short rest the intrepid traveller intended proceeding to the North-East, following the course of the Douarai river—a bold undertaking in consequence of the hostility of the inhabitants. Mr Rosset has succeeded in taking a fine series of photographs, as he did in the Maldive islands.

On Friday night Inspectors Perry and Baker met with a rather nupleasant experience which was caused by an undoubtedly intentional act of the part of a law-breaker. They had gone wit posse of constables to No. 38. Upper Lascar Row, and had effected an entrance, surprising about twenty of the ramblers at the fantan tables. Suddenly, however, one of the headmen seized a large glass kerosine lamp, which was langing from the roof and lighting the room. and hurled it on the floor, smashing it into fragments. The oil from the shattered lamp spread quickly all over the room and at once gnited. When things were in this state most of the gamblers made good their escape, although four were captured. The Inspectors had their work to get the flames under and it was very fortunate that they were eventually successful. at one time it was thought that they would unable to grapple with the flames. However, with the aid of coats and mats the result was accomplished without much havon being done.

The Pioneer, the first launch of the new local service to be commenced by the Steam Launch Company, Limited, started running on Saturlay between Hongkong and Kowloon. News from the Ruby Mines district state hat a large body of dagoits have assembled be ween Mainlang and Tsengoo, under Nga sung of Mainlung. It will be necessary to ake some vigorous steps against that which is now a refuge for decoits, who attack esighbouring districts and do much injury:

The Sekkya Mintha, the pretender who killed Darran last year, was attacked by Mr. An nesley. Assistant Superintendent of Police Kyonkse, on the 12th instant, with 30 Military Police, near Bilin in the north east corner o the district and on the banks of Myitage river The Mintha was driven from three stockades with a loss of 12 men killed. Mr. Annesley lost 2 killed and 5 wounded. The pretender then entered a strong stockade on a hill from whence Mr. Annesley had not sufficient men to dislodge him. Reinforcements of about 100 men have been sent him from Kyonkse and 60 from Mandalay. Mr. Gastrell, Commandant of the Naddars, "that Guillaume II, should have ad-Mandalay battalion, is operating on the Manda lay side of the Myitage, in case the pretender Kung Ti and Leung Ass were charged, on re-crosses. The pretender is supposed to have 300 Perceful," was a very appropriate name for the

Owing to the encouragement recently given by the Russian Government to emigration to Siberia, the number of colonists who voluntarily settle in that part of the Empire has now risen to forty thousand a year.

There has just died at Birtley, county Durham, a woman named Mary Long, at the age of 110 years. She leaves a sister aged 104, and a brother died a few months ago aged 100 years. The two who have died were blind, and so is the surviving sister,

> The Prince of Wales has been desperately unlacky in his purchases of yearlings. In the course of three years he has expended upwards of £7,000, and has won two races worth about . 2200. It now appears that Peter Athel, a twoyear old that was hired by H.R.H. for his racing career, has turned out another failure, so he has been returned to his breader, leaving the Prince to pay some £500 for forfeits.

The accounts of India's foreign trade for the first three months of the current year show a decrease in exports amounting, in value, to over with the advice and consent of the Legislative ports of over 170 lakhs. The falling off in exports is due to the contraction in the exports of imports being most conspicuous in cotton yarn . and twist, and cotton 'piece-goods.

Mrs. Norman, who is about forty years of age, is the mocompetent surveyor, and shall forthwith report seven years ago she earned the Queen's bounty to the Magistrate the state of the said premises by presenting her husband with triplets.

Fate is rather hard on Mr. Rider Haggard He has only just escaped shipwreck, or something of the sort, up in the North; and now a literary paper announces the publication, in volame form, of his "Latest Story of Bloodshed in South Africa." Are, then, Mr. Haggard's tales of African adventure "stories of bloodshed." only? There may be some measure of truth in 🥗 the description, but it is a little unkin lly put.

A Bankrupt Estate was lately wound up in the Wandsworth County Court, and the creditors have received "a first and final dividend of onethird of a penny in the pound." The accounts show that the trustee received in cash £756 10s. 6d. and that in realising this sum he expended £7.28 17s. 3d. One of the creditors writes to be The Bombay Gazette's London correspondent, morning paper to make complaint of this, and he is, of course, to be pitied. But only a very close examination can demonstrate that there has been any malpractice. The realisation of debts, when debtors are determined not to pay, is apt to to be a costly process.

As is well known, the method of christening a child among the Maoris of New Zealand is a curlous one. A certain performance is goue brough, when a list of names is slowly repeated? by an attendant functionary. The monotonous chant goes on till the child ories or annexes, and ing on the meeting, recommends the withdrawal the name which he "strikes" as the Americans say, belongs to him thenceforth. The story is told of a Maori at Tappe whose child was extremely "slow for a young un," and the chanter exhausted the list of names in Maori without extracting a sign from the callous infant. Then the old man tackled a set of English names that were notorious enough to be familiar to him, and the youngster eventually came down with a loud yell upon the name Wiremu Karatistoni. The old man swore much, for the boy had to be known as Bill Gladstone for the future, and the family affected Toryism of a severe type.

> Interpretation by numbers is a favourite method with Oriental exegetes. Among the Avabs it is used in fortune telling; and an Algerian sheikh, Abou Naddara by name, has lately been employing it to ascertain the character of the new German Emperor. He has discovered that the numerical value of the name Guillaums -giving each letter the number of its alphabetical order—is just 101, and that this same number is precisely the value of the French word Guerrier, calculated in the same way. "It is therefore not surprising." says the maye Abou dressed his first proclamation to the army. Another correspondent points out in a German late Emperor. A third correspondent calls attention to the fact that the age of the Emperor William I when he died was exactly equal to the combined ages of his son, grandson, and great-grandson. No explanation of this latter

NOW PUBLISHING.

NEW & ORIGINAL SERIAL STORY FROM THE PEN OF RIDER HAGGARD, Anthor of "King Solomon's Mines," "Allan Quartermain," "She," "Jess," &c., &c.

The Proprietors of this Journal are pleased to and unpublished manuscript Story from his pen.

The Title of RIDER HAGGAED'S New Story is COLONEL QUARITOH, V.C. And the Opening Chapters appeared in THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS" OF SATURDAY, 21st JULY.

In this dramatic work, the author of "She" makes a new departure. Instead of placing his characters in lands remote from civilization and subjecting them to influences of the most remarkable and unprecedented nature, he has here written an English treasure story of the present day. The hero is a soldier in the British army, a wearer of the Victoria Cross, whereturns home from the recent operations in the Soudan, to exchange the perils and privations of warfare in the desert for a series of sensational incidents among pleasant English landscapes, and the ultimate reward of an ancestral home brightened by the beauty of a comely bride. The plot is well contrived, there is strong individualisation in the characters; the scenes are depicted with clearness and a warm glow of local colour, while the main incidents are worked out with power. Not even in "King Solomon's Mines," when entrance is effected into the mysterious chamber, is the thrill greater than when Colonel Quaritch unesrthe the treasure, hidden away from Cromwell's soldiers, the recovery of which saves an
